DR. SAMUEL WARDLE.

E. J. Sketch of Chamberlain's Old and Most Honored Doctor.

Yesterday's LEADER made brief mention of the death of Dr. Samuel Wardle. The following additional particulars are given by the local papers of Cincinnati.

Dr. Samuel Wardle, the oldest practitioner in Cincinnati, died at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home in his 70th year.

For two months past deceased had suffered greatly with catarrhal pneumonia, which was the cause of death.

He came to America at the age of 9 years, and settled with his parents at Philadelphia.

As soon as he had arrived at majority he entered the study of dentistry at Philadelphia under the renowned Professor Elisha Neal.

Graduating in 1845, he at once established an office for himself in that city, where he continued to practice for four years, when he came to Cincinnati.

Immediately upon his arrival there he established a dental supply depot on Walnut street, near Sixth.

For many years besides his interesting he began the active practice of dentistry, and in which he has continued ever since.

For a score of years he has been located at 364 Race street, directly opposite the John Skilleto Building, and was considered one of the foremost in his profession, and one of the most thorough dentists in this state.

Dr. Wardle was married in 1847 to Margaret Anna Little of Philadelphia, who survives him.

He leaves besides four children, Dr. Charles W. Wardle, a prominent dentist at Mayville, Ky.; Harry M. Wardle of Evansville, Ind.; Samuel and Lily at home.

During the past eight years he has resided at 1845, his late home on Sturgis avenue being considered one of the prettiest in the suburb.

Dr. Wardle entered the war as a private in Company H, 138th O. V. L., and was discharged therefrom at the close of the hundred-day service as First Lieutenant of his company.

He was a member of Robert L. McCook Post No. 30, G. A. R., of Carthage; N. C. Harmony Lodge No. 2, F. and A. M.; Cincinnati Commandery K. T.; Magnolia Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Widely Exempt No. 1, I. O. O. F.

According to his expressed desire, made a few days ago, the funeral services will be conducted by the Oddfellows, with the Masonic Fraternity as escort.

He was a member of the Hartwell Methodist Church, at which edifice the funeral will be held.

The burial will take place at Spring Grove at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are visiting them, please drop us a note to their effect.

Dr. L. B. Abney of Elizaville was in the city yesterday.

A LITTLE child was fatally lacerated by a vicious bear in Louisville yesterday. The people of these United States are being lacerated every day by the biggest bore on earth—G. Cleveland.

Taxpayers cough, which usually follows an attack of the grip, can be promptly cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. W. A. McGuire of McKay, O., says: "La grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children, when troubled with colds or croup. Twenty-five and fifty-cent bottles for sale by John J. Reynolds, Druggist."

Officer W. B. Dawson yesterday arrested Harvey Young for breaking into the house of M. Creechridge, colored, and stealing besides a lot of clothing, $25 in money.

The robbery took place yesterday afternoon while the family were away from the house.

Young will be given a hearing this afternoon in the Police Court.

Goodbye, Mr. Randall!

The Aberdeen Journal says Aberdeen will lose a good citizen next week in the person of Q. C. Randall, the popular miller at the Ohio Valley Mills, who on account of his health will leave their charming city for a time by means that operate the minimum of hardship to the individual and the maximum of profit to the country. Free sugar and free coal at the cost of an income tax will not promote that end. Free coal means the paralysis of the railroad industry, the impoverishment of millions of honest laboring men, the depopulation of ten thousand towns and cities. Free sugar means the loss of $75,000,000 of revenue, collected at slight cost and at absolutely no inconvenience to the people, and the substitution of some other tax less profitable and more oppressive, provocative of fraud and fruitful of discontent. These are the vices of the Wilson Bill and these the threatening possibilities which they antagonize.

It is proper that the Democratic party should reform the Tariff. For that the people called them to power a year or more ago. To that they are pledged by every obligation that men and parties recognize. But it is not proper that in reforming the Tariff they should increase the private ear of President M. E. Ingalls of the C. and O. road, who together with several of his chief men was bound to New York on business pertaining to the line.

The gentlemen and his companions were apparently at leisure while at the stop here and paid but little attention to the town or the road. It could not be learned just who the parties were that accompanied him, but it was understood that they were some of the Eastern officials who have been consulting Mr. Ingalls with reference to the proposed new tariff.

The tariff will take place at Spring Grove at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

C. and O. Officials Meet.

Wednesday's C. and O. train No. 3, carried in addition to the regular coaches the private car of President M. E. Ingalls of the C. and O. road, who together with several of his chief men was bound to New York on business pertaining to the line.

The gentlemen and his companions were apparently at leisure while at the stop here and paid but little attention to the town or the road. It could not be learned just who the parties were that accompanied him, but it was understood that they were some of the Eastern officials who have been consulting Mr. Ingalls with reference to the proposed new tariff.

The tariff will take place at Spring Grove at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Caught at Last.
A Mr. Nichols, who lately jumped his bond at Caledonia, and went up into Ohio opposite Huntington, was arrested on the steamer Bank at Caledonia the other day, while en route to Ironton on the track of a skiff thief.

Getting Back at Them.
"Mark my words. Just as soon as this bill is passed every loom in the country will be started, every furnace will be lighted and every instrument of production will be put in active operation, and there will be witnessed a revival of prosperity such as this country has never before seen. Give this country free wool, free corn, free coal and free raw material for the workmen's industry, and we will take a front position in the markets of the world."—Extract from Congressman Springer's Speech on the Tariff.

The Bulletin should have added, "And the workman who is now getting $2.50 per day for his work will then receive $1.25 per day, which no doubt will be enough to keep his wife and children from starving." WORKINGMEN.

Have You Ever Considered?
It is an admitted fact that during the recent flurry among financial affairs, no agency does more potent work to maintain confidence among the people in the national institutions than the country newspapers.

They all swore by their towns and by their banks—boosted them up as the safest in the land, managed by the most able financiers and equal to any emergencies.

In some towns that we know of, had the local papers doped a hint of even one line that things were not exactly safe, the people would have been such runs on the banks that would have "busted 'em into smithereens."

It's the local paper that keeps down excitement in perilous times, throws oil on the troubled waters, and makes all men better by its being published in the community. It deserves all the support good citizens can give it.

REFORM THAT CALLS.
Free Coal and Free Sugar, But on License Terms.

Washington Post.—All the silver tongues that ever wagged, all the eloquence and epigram that ever sparkled, will not save the Wilson Tariff Bill so long as it contemplates free coal, free sugar and an income tax. The whole substance of that bill is as Cleo and Demosthenes combined, though their voices be as loud and their speech thrill with the sweetness of the dithyramb, they cannot beguile the Nation into accepting it. We may lull ourselves beneath the music we may make the charm of rounded periods and feel the tremor of a great and passionate appeal, but like Ulysses, the sail will resist the siren song and all away into the open sea.

This is the age of reason and common sense. The people will not be lulled by dreams and stiff theories. The purpose of taxation is to make enlightened Government possible. We want a Treasury to protect the commonwealth. We levy taxes to sustain the Treasury. There is but one common bond possible, and that is the creation of a fund by means that operate the minimum of hardship to the individual and the maximum of profit to the country. Free sugar and free coal at the cost of an income tax will not promote that end. Free coal means the paralysis of the railroad industry, the impoverishment of millions of honest laboring men, the depopulation of ten thousand towns and cities. Free sugar means the loss of $75,000,000 of revenue, collected at slight cost and at absolutely no inconvenience to the people, and the substitution of some other tax less profitable and more oppressive, provocative of fraud and fruitful of discontent. These are the vices of the Wilson Bill and these the threatening possibilities which they antagonize.

It is proper that the Democratic party should reform the Tariff. For that the people called them to power a year or more ago. To that they are pledged by every obligation that men and parties recognize. But it is not proper that in reforming the Tariff they should increase the private ear of President M. E. Ingalls of the C. and O. road, who together with several of his chief men was bound to New York on business pertaining to the line.

The gentlemen and his companions were apparently at leisure while at the stop here and paid but little attention to the town or the road. It could not be learned just who the parties were that accompanied him, but it was understood that they were some of the Eastern officials who have been consulting Mr. Ingalls with reference to the proposed new tariff.

The tariff will take place at Spring Grove at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

THE LITTLE TYCOON.
Comic opera without a topical song or two would hardly be comic opera up to date, or rather up to the liking of the many people who are fond of that style of entertainment. Yielding to that plainly expressed general desire, Willard Spenser has written a catchy, topical song, which bears the striking title of "That's What I Think, Don't You?"

The same indicates, the theme of the song is rather elastic in character and admits of numerous and varied hits at the latest developments in politics, social and local doings, the fashion, the ladies, the dudes, and all of the many follies of the day. It will be sung by the comedian during the second act of "The Little Tycoon" when that opera is done at the Opera house on the night of Tuesday January 30th.

"NECESSARIES OF LIFE."
Some of Them Reduced for the Po Man by the Wilson Bill.

An exchange certainly strikes the following article on the "Necessaries of Life." It is to the point as we cannot refrain from clipping whole article.

Here it is:
Says the innocent and childlike in his late message to Congress:
"If we were to add the people through Tariff Reform, one of the obvious features should be a reduction in present Tariff charges upon the necessities of life."

Now, let us see of just what these "necessaries of life" consist:
Diamonds under the McKinley Tariff paid a duty of 25 per cent; under the Wilson Tariff they are let in for 10 per cent. Diamonds are a "necessary of life."

Opium under the McKinley Law paid a duty of $12 a pound; under the Wilson Bill it will pay $6. Hurrah for this necessity.

Perfumery—p-e-r-f-u-m-e-r-y—perfumery under the McKinley Law paid $3 per gallon, and 30 per cent; under the Wilson Law, to suit the New York and Boston dukes, it will pay $3 and 25 per cent. The poor, starving devil out of work will rejoice in the cheapening of this "necessary of life."

Clink champagne by the barrel—is greatly reduced, and also on fine cigars, another absolute "necessary of life." Rah for reform!

Porcelain—all poor people fairly revel in this—reduced from 60 per cent, to 35 per cent. God bless Tariff Reform.

Roofing slate—every poor man uses slate for his roof—reduced from 25 per cent, to 10 per cent. Again, God bless Tariff Reform that gives the poor man a reduction of 15 per cent on his roofing slate.

The poor man who never sits down to a meal without figs, oranges, grapes, comfits and sweetmeats of all kinds, will kick up his heels as high as the Washington Monument at this great reduction on these "necessaries of life."

The poor man who dresses his wife and children in silk dresses, who buys the silk hosiery, who purchases the fine straw bonnets with ostrich feathers, can, under the Wilson Bill, effect a great saving.

Another lot of "necessaries of life." Brandy, wine, absinthe, kirschwasser, arrack, ratafia, bay rum, ginger wine—all burning necessities of life—all used in endless profusion by the people—are greatly reduced. The common people are in it by the millions.

Plushes and velvets go down the list, and the million laboring men in the country out of work will sing glad psalms of praise to the verdict.

Playing cards, of all other things most used by the poor man, are reduced from 20 cents per pack to 10 cents per pack. Again, praise the Lord.

Gloves—rich men's gloves—pay a duty of $2 per dozen; poor men's gloves will be let in for $3. This is the day of the poor man. One million out of work and the other million will get $1 per dozen higher than the rich man's. "Give God the glory, glory, glory!"

And pictures! Every poor man in the land has the walls of his humble home covered with paintings by Michael Angelo, Titian, Correggio, Rosa Bonheur, Munillo and they are all placed on the free list, as against 15 per cent, under the damnable McKinley Bill. A $20,000 painting can now be purchased for $30,000, instead of $20,000, as under old Bill McKinley's abortion.

And many other things in proportion.

All hail the Wilson Bill, the poor man's friend!

All hail the great reduction in the necessities of life.

Let every farmer, mechanic and laborer in the land rejoice with exceeding great joy. The deliverance is at hand and the Wilson Bill is a Godsend.

The jubilee is with us.

All Along the Line
is heard from Dr. H. B. Householder of Clinton, Mo. Mrs. I. S. Jacobs of Farmington, Mo., writes that she suffered five years with various troubles and running sore on her leg, and was completely cured by its use. Dr. F. L. Fuller, Salisbury, Va., writes: "We cannot live without it; it relieves my sister of asthma at once; it cures a host of other ailments almost instantly." Under date of May 30, 1893, E. H. Simpson, Leroy, N. Y., writes: "I used Hall's Remedy for rheumatism three years ago with the most rapid and complete success. It is the best treatment in the world for general use; $2.50 per box. For sale by Powers & Reynolds, Druggists."
